Students Relaxation Garden

Students in Miss Marybeth Holleran's Sensory Integreation class learned techniques to help them to relax and deal with stressful situations. One of the tools the students learned about was a relaxation garden.

Here, you can see the students' calm concentration and relaxation as they raked, swept, and drew in the court yard sandbox, which doubled as their relaxation garden. Students will also have access to miniature relaxation gardens in her classroom and other relaxation tools, tips, and tricks.
