Summer 2006

Special Needs Adults Provide Spectacular Services

As the school doors of Clelian Heights closed for a summer break, The Clelian Center chose to remain open and provide its job contractors with service. The Clelian Center Business Service is a cost effective, dependable and high quality alternative to "temp hire" for repetitive tasks and for the first time since its inception, the workshop stayed "in business" three days each week throughout the month of June.

Each day between ten to fifteen men and women arrived for work at 8:45 a.m. and completed six different contracts. Assembly work from Pitt Industrial and Ventana as well as mailings from the Westmoreland Chamber of Commerce, ParentWise Inc. and the University of Pittsburgh at Greensburg offered a variety of tasks that were completed with precision and accuracy. A luncheon at Hempfield Park, a barbecue at Clelian Heights and a buffet luncheon at Sam's Club were well deserved treats enjoyed throughout the month.

Back to its "normal" routine during July, the workshop is open five days each week with thirty men and women working diligently to improve their skills while enjoying the camaraderie with one another and some summer fun.

New contracts are always being sought and inquiries may be made by calling Sr. Shawn Lyons at 724/837-8120, ext. 116 or 117.

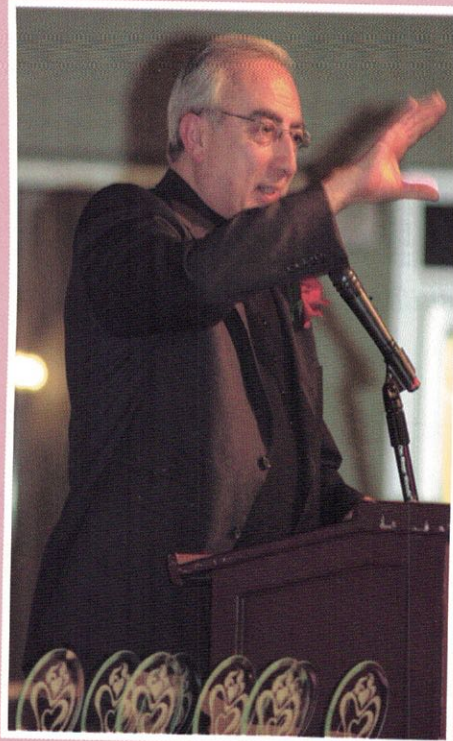

CELEBRATING 45 YEARS!

On May 5, 2006, Clelian Heights School for Exceptional Children and the Apostles of the Sacred Heart of Jesus celebrated 45 years of service with its second Heart to Heart Award Banquet. Over 300 friends and family gathered at the Four Points Sheraton in Greensburg for this joyous celebration.

Heart to Heart awards, given to individuals who have played a significant role in the growth of Clelian Heights, were given to eight special friends. The 2006 honorees were Ben and Ellie Bernacchi, Dominic Ciarimboli, Esq., Rev. Msgr. Donald Mondello, Mr. Joseph Policastro, Hon. and Mrs. Jules Melograne and Sr. Linda Pettinella, ASCJ.

Bill Hillgrove, the radio voice of the Steelers, was the Master of Cermonies. Rev. Msgr. James Gaston, former chaplain at Clelian Heights and the pastor of St. Margaret Mary Church in Lower Burrell was the keynote speaker. "The witness of the children and the ministry provided at Clelian is a very important one for our culture," he said. "The children and adults of Clelian represent the fragility and vulnerability that is in every human being. In the end, we are all somewhat disabled and in need of the same love and care."

"For of such is the Kingdom of heaven."

Congratulations to...

Sr. Rosemary Zaffuto, Clelian Heights Executive Director, as she celebrates 60 years of vowed life as an Apostle of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. On May 28, 2006, Sr. Rosemary along with her family and friends celebrated with a Liturgy of Thanksgiving in the Clelian Heights Chapel. In July, Sr. Rosemary publicly renewed her vows to God, to the church and to her congregation with a festive and solemn Liturgy at the Provincial House in Connecticut.

Sr. Rosemary attended Fordham University, Duquesne University, received her Masters in Education from Boston College and a Masters in Administration from the University of California in Sacramento. She served as Superintendent of Schools in the Diocese of Sacramento, CA for twelve years and was a Vice Provincial of the Apostles of the Sacred Heart in Hamden, CT for six years. Sr. Rosemary served as principal of Clelian Heights from 1988-1995 and returned in 2001 as the Executive Director.

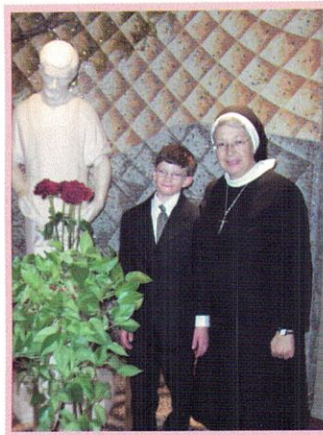

It's Hard to say "good-bye" to...

Sr. Linda Pettinella, who has been the principal at Clelian Heights for the past twelve years. Among her many accomplishments while she served as principal of Clelian Heights, Sr. Linda was instrumental in having Clelian Heights licensed as a Private Academic School allowing the public school districts to pay the tuition for those enrolled in the school program. She also initiated the establishment of an inclusive pre-school program. Sr. Linda worked tirelessly with the staff, aides, volunteers and parents involved in the school community. Her initiative, energy and outstanding dedication has enriched Clelian Heights in so many ways.

Sr. Linda's new assignment is in southern Taiwan. She will teach English to Chinese speaking high school students at St. Paul's private school in the Catholic Diocese of Kaohsiung. Sr. Linda has been busy learning Chinese and looks forward to the challenge of her new assignment.

Sr. Charlene Celli, a long time teacher at Clelian Heights, will be the new principal.

Well done thy good and faithful servant;...

Matthew 25:21
